1. Applicant's election with traverse of the election of species in the reply filed on June 24, 2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the different species are all very closely interrelated. This is not found persuasive because even though the different species may be closely interrelated, they still all have different details that if all searched would impose a serious burden on the Office.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

2. Claims 5, 10-12, 25, 27, and 28 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on June 24, 2005.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-4, 6, 8, 18, 24, and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pastryk et al '324 in view of Searl. Pastryk et al '324 discloses the claimed invention except for the overflow prevention device. Searl teaches an ice maker having a dropper 22 on one side of the ice tray, and a cover 33 on the other side of the tray. The cover 33 inherently functions as an overflow prevention device. It would be obvious to provide the ice maker of Pastryk et al '324 with a cover, as taught in Searl, for the purpose of preventing water from overflowing the ice tray.

Art Unit: 3744

5. Claims 7, 9, 13-17, and 19-23 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
